ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A feed forward amplifier employing high efficiency main and/or error amplifiers with amplifier devices biased in a lower bias class. Small signal nonlinearities in the gain response of the amplifier devices are compensated by a small signal gain adjustment circuit. The resulting gain response is substantially linear over the entire usable range of RF input power.